Public's close relationship with the food and wines of the Antipodes has led us to assemble a uniquely focused wine list offering a vital and evolving selection of New Zealand and Australian wine – unparalleled in the United States.

Here are some special varietal selections from one of our favourite producers

Henschke Vineyards, (Australia)

The Henschke Vineyards date back to the 1860s, which is almost as far as Australian viticulture goes. Steven and Prue Henschke have elevated the wines on to the world stage as the family's sixth generation of wine makers now utilizing biodynamic viticulture. The wines are complex and elegant, deep and powerful, perfectly balanced with persistent mineral drive and character.

THE "AUSTRALIAN" BLEND

$USD

Just as merlot is used to flesh out the sometimes austere character of cabernet sauvignon the world over, syrah was once used in Bordeaux to do the same thing ~ adding spice, fruit and gusto to a reserved cabernet. In Australia that blend has become a classic, finding itself the base for many of the country's most highly regarded and serious wines and these selections, from some of Australia's better known producers, deftly illustrate the style.
