SPECIAL SELECTIONS$USD

Public's close relationship with the food and wines of the Antipodes has led us to assemble a uniquely focused wine list offering a vital and evolving selection of New Zealand and Australian wine - unparalleled in the United States.

Here are some special varietal selections from two of our favourite producers

Henschke Vineyards (Eden Valley, Australia)

The Henschke Vineyards which date back to the dawn of Australian viticulture (in the 1860s) are now owned and run by Stephen and Prue Henschke, the family's sixth generation of wine makers. Prue farms biodynamically and provides fruit for Stephen's winemaking that produce wonderful and elegant wines that provide a multi varietal window into South Australia.

Shiraz, Mount Edelstone, 2005		190

Dry River Wines (Martinborough , New Zealand)

Iconic, that is the descriptor most often used for the wines of Dr. Neil McCallum's Dry River. Established in 1979, the winery was one of five founding producers that put the hamlet of Martinborough (and the terroir now well known as the Martinborough Terraces) on the world wine map. In an area once surveyed and found to be the NZ climate most similar to Burgundy these pioneer producers have established the region as one of the New World's most important for cool climate grape growing.

THE "AUSTRALIAN" BLEND

$USD

Just as merlot is used to flesh out the sometimes austere character of cabernet sauvignon the world over, syrah was once used in Bordeaux to do the same thing ~ adding spice, fruit and gusto to a reserved cabernet. In Australia that blend has become a classic, finding itself the base for many of the country's most highly regarded and serious wines and these selections, from some of Australia's better known producers, deftly illustrate the style.
